At the top of Casares, where the land leans toward the blue horizon, a unique residential project comes to life — a place that breathes light, sea, and landscape.

Three natural forces define its essence: the light that caresses, the sea that shapes, and the terrain that inspires its form.

Ten elegant buildings are oriented to the southwest, following the rhythm of the sun and the gentle slope of the hill. Like terraces cascading down the hillside, they blend seamlessly with the landscape, forming an inviting interior plaza — a central space where life unfolds and is shared.

In this shared heart, a serene pool reflects the sky like a mirror, while the solarium becomes a stage for rest and contemplation. On the ground floor, a modern gym and co-working space offer comfort and connection, creating a perfect balance between body, mind, and community.

Spacious terraces open toward the vast horizon, their wave-like railings inspired by the sea breeze. Light moves gracefully across walls and corners, casting soft shadows — quiet rhythms of peace and whispers of home.

This is more than architecture. It is a sanctuary of tranquility, a window to the horizon, and a way of living where nature, the sea, and light embrace you gently.
